

Stunning London - in Red and Black

The inspiration for this mood board came from the bright red and monochromatic images that London provided in the early 1900s. Buses, Telephone Boxes and Newspapers; all items that we associate with the capital gave inspiration when choosing the tiles. Newspapers represent the Grey and Black tiles whilst the Deep Red tiles represent the Buses and Phone Boxes scattered around the City. The Grey also representing the frequently dull sky that we endure in the UK. The contrast between now and the early 1900s is significant as now the city is colour brushed, filled with different cultures and surroundings; compared to the simplistic, greyscale, however, eye-catching and unique old London. These colours therefore can easily sit together for a wonderful looking project.
